

Luis Baltazar Bonilla Díaz

Collaborator and Client

"Working with Rachell has been an experience I would wholeheartedly recommend. From the very first project I entrusted to her, she demonstrated a level of commitment and attention to detail that is rarely found. She has designed all kinds of projects, including brand identity creation, logos, mockups, social media banners, and the website for the photography and video company, L&L Studios. What stands out most about her is not only her technical skill but also her ability to understand the vision behind each project and translate it into something visually effective. She always proposes ideas, asks questions when something can be improved, and delivers on time. Cindy Rachell is a professional I trust completely. If you're looking for someone who combines creativity, design judgment, and responsibility, she's the one."

Sincerely,
